

UC Davis Jewish Studies Program Presents:

Motherhood and the State:

Women, Surrogacy and (Trans)Nationalism in Israel and India

Thursday, November 12th, 9:30—5:00
360 Shields Library

Welcome and Introduction (9:30 am)

Diane Wolf, Director of Jewish Studies

I. Ethnographies of Surrogacy (9:45—Noon)

Amrita Pande, Ph.D.

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Elly Teman, Postdoctoral Researcher

Penn Center for the Integration of Genetic Healthcare Technologies

II. The State, Reproductive Technologies and Motherhood (1:30-3:30)

Aditya Bharadwaj, School of Social and Political Science,

University of Edinburgh, Scotland

Susan Kahn, Associate Director

Center for Middle Eastern Studies, Harvard University

III. Discussion: Comparative Understandings (4:00-5:00)

Co-sponsored by

Institute of Governmental Affairs

Departments of Anthropology, Women and Gender Studies, and Sociology

The Consortium for Women and Research

Program in Cultural Studies

The Women's Resource and Research Center

Middle East/South Asian Studies Program

Lunch will be served for all participants and guests.

This conference is generously funded by the Osher Foundation